They are buried side-by-side in Sunset View Mortuary and Cemetery in El Cerrito, CA (formerly Albany). Meath on May 4, 1890 and died June 9, 1973, 83 years old in Alameda, California. Primrose was the only Carroll sibling still living in Ireland with her mother, who died in 1909 in Dublin. Primrose, age 20, left with her sister Frances from Liverpool, England, for America on Oct. 14, 1910. At age 21 she entered the work at the Vancouver B.C. Convention in 1910 as a companion to her sister May in Washington and remained in the work at least until 1913 where she is shown on 1912-13 USA Workers List. Sometime between 1917 and 1920, she married John Richard Perrott (born June 19, 1893 in Kinsdale, Ireland and died June 23 1961, 68 yrs old). His WW1 draft papers showed he was single in 1917. His parents were Arthur and Ann (Tanner) Perrott, from the Meelon, Ballymodan, Co. Cork, Ireland. Richard was in the work for a time. Both labored in Canada. The 1920 and 1930 California Census shows their home was in Alameda, California, and the U. S. City Directories 1821-1989 show Richard's profession to be a banker. NOTE: All four (4) Carroll sisters, as well as the spouses of the two married sisters, are buried in the same cemetery: Sunset View Mortuary and Cemetery in El Cerrito, CA (formerly known as Albany).

NOTE: The connection between the Christies and the Carrolls is that Cecelia Christie Carroll, mother of Jack, Bill, May, Fanny, Primrose Perrott and Agnes Weir was a sister of John Christie, father of Dave, May, Minnie & Eva Calwell who's daughter Jean Calwell was in the work in Ireland/England. So Jack Carroll and his siblings were first cousins of Dave Christie and his siblings, making Primrose & Gladys Weir first cousins once removed through their mother, Agnes Carroll Weir. The Christies and Weirs are only related to one another through their marriages to Carrolls.

Quote from Jean Calwell (Ireland) at Santee #2 California conv. (year?) "My Mother (Eva Christie) left her home at 16 years of age and went to work at the store of Jack Carroll. She was invited to the meetings. After attending several meetings her father moved to another part which separated her from contact with the friends and meetings. At the age of 19 Mother married and moved away from home. The servants of God remembered her, looked her up and took her to her first convention. After mother made her choice she received much opposition from the family. My father emigrated to Canada in an attempt to escape the truth. Father made his choice later. I made my choice at the age of 12."

Dave Christie Sr. was born in County Donegal, Ireland. He married Emily Wilson in 1923, who was born in County Fermanagh, Northern Ireland. They pioneered the work in Hawaii; had 2 children. Jack Carroll's Announcement of Christie Marriage
